A part of our history

FROM THE HEAD OF SCHOOL

As I write this final note with a heart full of emotions and recollections, I find it difficult to express the depth of gratitude and pride that fills my soul. After twenty tremendous years at Stanstead College, with eighteen of those years as head of school, the time has come for me to say goodbye and to embark on a new chapter in my life.

It certainly wasn't an easy decision to retire and I wrestled with it for a long time. Ultimately I made the decision with a great deal of pride in the accomplishments of our community and fully confident that the school has the leadership and the spirit to continue on with its current success.

Before I leave, I want to take a moment to reflect on the remarkable journey we have taken together. As I mentioned at the final reception at Gallant House and during the Baccalaureate ceremony, this year's graduating class is a unique one. You are the class that graduated during our school's 150th anniversary celebrations. You are also the largest graduating class in the history of Stanstead College. And you are my last graduating class.

Each one of you will always hold a special place in my heart. From the new students who took their first steps into a boarding school back in September to the confident seniors now ready to conquer the world, I've had the great pleasure of witnessing your growth, development and extraordinary achievements. It has been an honour to watch you transform into the outstanding individuals you are today. You have navigated triumphs and challenges, celebrated victories and learned from setbacks, all while forging memorable experiences and lifelong friendships.

Remember that true success is not measured solely by grades nor by awards but by the impact you make on the lives of others. As you set off into the world beyond these red brick walls walls, carry with you the values and lessons you have learned here as expressed in our school motto: health, wisdom and integrity. Embrace new experiences, embrace failure as a stepping stone to growth and embrace the power of kindness to other people.

There's a Chinese proverb that Helen Yao, a former Stanstead College student, gave to me some years ago. It states that it takes 10 years to watch a tree grow but that it takes 100 years to watch people grow. The proverb is used to emphasize the time and effort that go into teaching. I hope that one day you will take the time to thank your dedicated teachers, coaches, advisors and house parents for all that they did to help you along your way.

As I bid you farewell, please know that my faith in your potential is unwavering. You are the future leaders, innovators, and change-makers this world needs. So spread your wings, follow your dreams and never forget that you have the power to create a brighter future for yourselves and for others.

Thank you for making the last of my twenty years at Stanstead College so rewarding and fulfilling. I will cherish the moments and the memories forever.

With sincere thanks and warmest wishes,

Michael Wolfe

FROM THE YEARBOOK STAFF

Dear Yearbook Readers,

Whether you are an alumnus, a parent, or a current student, you are reading this editorial message. We have been at Stanstead College for a combined number of years of 5. We decided to join the Yearbook Club at first because we were trying all the clubs, but we decided to stick through it for the whole year. Sure, we worked "very" hard on this yearbook, and we may have spent the hour every Thursday taking phone calls or reading people's grad messages, but we did enjoy looking through all the Vidigami photos and seeing everyone have fun.

We were fairly quiet students in school, and if you knew us, you would know we didn't participate in much. Working on the yearbook made us look back on all the activities we missed out on, or even the ones we went to, from a third-person view. With every next page we worked on, we saw a new event. Each event meant something different to some people than to others. Some people's favourite part of Stanstead was the Variety Show, for example, while for others it was just a silly talent show. All-Campus is the day some people looked forward to all year; going out with friends, participating in sports you wouldn't normally do. But for others, it was just a day where you had to sit outside all day long.

But at the end of the day, it didn't matter what the event was, it was an activity to participate with the entire school and get to know people who you would never have talked to before.

That is one of the beauties of Stanstead. No matter what age, people you hung out with, or where you were from, everyone was together. Looking back on it, that is something beautiful that you don't get to experience in everyday life outside of this small town. The sense of community through the school is something that is cherished, and special - of course we didn't know this at the moment.

When going through the yearbook, you'll see the passion in peoples faces as they played a specific sport, or as they dressed up for carnival spirit days in a costume they spent hours working on. If you were a student and you experienced this, you would never know how much one thing meant to a completely different student. Stanstead is built of many different people, and nothing would be the same if one person changed.

As graduating students (and current alumni as you read this), this is just a message to everyone to stop thinking about what others will think and just go have fun. If you're not a big dancer, who cares. Go to the Beach Dance. If you're not a big skater, it doesn't matter. Go participate in the figuring skating competition for your house. Stanstead is only what you make of it, and if you think the activities aren't fun, then they won't be. But go in with the mindset of something new, it will be exactly that. Go talk to people you wouldn't normally and go enjoy your time there. It is limited, and you'll never realize until your gone.

This probably sounds silly coming from us, and don't take our advice if you'd like. We made some amazing memories here and some not so good. We made some amazing friends, while other people we never got around to talking to. People say "no regrets," but honestly, there are regrets. Don't make the mistake of having them. We grew as people, and not one student is the same person they were when they first arrived at the College.

So to end, as you read through this yearbook, just appreciate all the work that Mau did (he was among those in the club the longest and definitely did the most work out of us all – thank you, Mau) and RozzDog (the person who makes amazing yearbooks every year) in creating this memory capsule.

To current Spartans, enjoy the rest of your year. For our classmates who are now alumni, o have the best time in your continued studies wherever you are in the world. And for parents, understand that boarding school can be difficult at times, but we appreciate all the experiences we are given.

Thanks,

Victoria and Mia '23

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL • LA GOUVERNEURE GÉNÉRALE

Message from the Governor General on the occasion of the 150th anniversary of Stanstead College

I am pleased to send warm greetings to everyone celebrating the sesquicentennial of Stanstead College.

Education opens the door to knowledge and provides us with opportunities to grow. From a young age, it instills in us the importance of learning, discipline and collaboration. It encourages us to build relationships, form opinions and defend ideals. It helps us find our way in our diverse and multicultural society.

Stanstead College has faced some formidable challenges during its 150-year history: two world wars, a major fire, pandemics, social upheaval and rapid technological advances, to name but a few. Despite all of this, it has continued to thrive, while remaining true to its motto: Sanitas Sapientia Religio—health, wisdom, integrity.

Today, students, faculty and staff of Stanstead College seize every opportunity to learn from one another and build a strong community. Together, they contribute to creating a world of possibilities and hope.

Congratulations on this impressive milestone!

Mary Simon

A brief history of Stanstead College

1872
In June 1871, the Canada Wesleyan Conference approves a plan to locate its proposed college for the Eastern Townships in Stanstead Plain. Construction begins in the fall of 1872, with the cornerstone being laid on December 2, 1872. Stanstead Wesleyan College is incorporated on December 24.

1874
Classes begin the first week of January 1874. The first principal is Rev. A. Lee Holmes. He had been principal of the school's predecessor, the Stanstead Seminary, from 1869 to 1870. Holmes remained principal of the College until 1885 when he returned to the ministry. He remained an active figure in College life, however, singlehandedly raising $18,000 to pay off the College debt, later becoming headmaster of Bugbee Business College, Stanstead College registrar and treasurer and serving as chair of the board of trustees.

1876
Due to the slow sales of shares and low tuition, the stockholders transfer the property of Stanstead Wesleyan College to the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada. While the church (later the United Church of Canada) did not play a day-to-day role in school life, it would remain the official owner of the College until the school was reincorporated in 2002.

1890
Stanstead Wesleyan College becomes affiliated with McGill University, offering first- and second-year undergraduate courses in the arts.

1893
The Rev. Charles R. Flanders becomes principal, serving until 1908. During this era, the College goes through a significant period of expansion. In 1894, Dr. and Mrs. A.G. Bugbee of Derby Line donate the residence of Albert Knight, former Stanstead MLA, and have it moved across the field to the College grounds to be used as Bugbee Business College. In 1901, Mary Pierce (wife of Rev. Lee Holmes) and her family donate funds to build the original Pierce Memorial Hall, which would become home to the Eastern Townships Music Conservatory. The Holmes family, meanwhile, funds the establishment of the Horace Homes Memorial School in 1903 to serve as the elementary school for local Protestant children. In 1905, the Pierce family donates Sunnyside Castle across the road from the College to be used as a girls residence. Also during Rev. Flanders' era an infirmary and gymnasium were built. Rev. Flanders is also responsible for designing and planting what would come to be known as "The Heart" in front of the school.

1908
Dr. George Trueman named principal. He would remain at Stanstead until 1920 when he was appointed principal of Mount Allison University in New Brunswick, another Wesleyan Methodist school.

1914-1918
Over 300 students and alumni serve in World War I, 32 of whom are killed in action.

1919
The Spanish flu pandemic hits Stanstead College. Many boarding students return home, and five pupils die while away. Of those who remain, 70 percent become ill but recover.

1923
Stanstead Wesleyan College celebrates its Jubilee Commencement, with guest speaker Sir Arthur Currie, former commander of the Canadian Forces during WWI and principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University.

1930
Rev. T. B. Moody, who had principal since 1928, dies suddenly on November 5 after a day of work at the College. His wife stayed on as lady principal until his successor could be named for the following school year.

1931
Rev. Errol C. Amaron becomes principal. He would remain so for 23 years, the longest-serving principal in school history.

1938
A chimney fire on Saturday, May 28, 1938 leads to the total destruction of the main building. With the help of regional high schools lending material, the school was able to finish the academic year. For the 1938-39 school year, boarders are housed throughout Stanstead and Rock Island, described by Principal Amaron as "our year in the wilderness." After a highly successful fundraising campaign, a new main building, later named Colby House, opens in 1940. A clock was installed in the new tower in 1949.

1939-1945
Hundreds of Stanstead alumni again sign up to serve in World War II. Of those, 35 give their lives. In 1946, alumni donate the Memorial Gates that are erected at the entrance to the College in memory of those who died in both World Wars.

1948
His Excellency, Field Marshall Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor General of Canada, visits Stanstead College on September 17, 1948 to mark the school's 75th anniversary.

1951
Pierce Memorial Hall is destroyed by fire on December 31. Despite the school being closed for the holidays, 17 pianos and all the contents of the music rooms were saved by staff and others. But many instruments are lost, including the grand piano and memorial pipe organ in the assembly hall.

1955
On May 31, the school has the honour of welcoming Governor General Raymond Massey to Stanstead College.

1958
Pierce Hall is rebuilt and Davis House residence opens, named in honour of alumnus Harry Davis of Miles Pond, Vermont, who contributes $200,000 the project. Faced with declining enrolment, both the Bugbee Business College and the Eastern Townships Conservatory of Music close.

1959
Stanstead College becomes an all-boys residential school. Most local students begin attending public schools, including the newly expanded Sunnyside School across from the College.

1965
Amaron Gymnasium opens. Rev. Errol Amaron and Alice Amaron are both on hand for the ribbon cutting. The former gym is converted to a student centre.

1968
LeBaron Hall opens in honour of the late Gordon LeBaron, board chair from 1952-1961.

1971
On November 9, on his way home to the College from Montreal, Headmaster Raymond Lester is killed in a car accident. Assistant Headmaster Thomas Russell is named his replacement.

1973
Stanstead College celebrates its Centennial Year with the groundbreaking for the Ralph B. Hood Swimming Pool in February (opening in October) followed by a gala in Montreal. In June, Governor General Roland Michener is the guest of honour.

1977
In the face of Quebec's Bill 101, Stanstead College chooses to no longer accept the per-student subsidy from the Quebec government. The resulting independence allows the school to maintain control over its policies, including allowing francophone students to enroll without certificates of eligibility.

1979
Faced with declining enrolment, Stanstead College returns to its co-educational roots. In that first year, girls number 15 of the 148 students. By the second year, there were 34.

1980
Barry Gallant becomes headmaster and remains in the position until 1999.

1990
The Twenty-First Century Capital Campaign raises over $3 million, resulting in the construction of Webster House for senior girls, expansion of the library and improved academic and computer facilities.

1997
The school celebrates its 125th anniversary, with Governor General Romeo Leblanc the guest speaker at the June 1997 Baccalaureate and Prize-Giving. The anniversary year also included a gala evening in Montreal.

2001
The student centre is destroyed by fire. Eight months later a new student centre is built and named the Eric T. Webster Student Centre.

2005
Michael T. Wolfe is named headmaster. Over the next 18 years of his mandate, the school will undergo its largest expansion of the past 100 years. In 2007, the College purchases neighbouring "Broadview," also known as "Butters House," to house its Advancement Department. After a major capital campaign, including government funding announced in person by Prime Minister Stephen Harper, the Pat Burns Arena opens. Thanks to a gift from alumnus John Mackay (1952), the swimming pool is converted to a second gym and named in his honour. In 2015 Stanstead College acquires Centenary United Church from the dwindling local congregation. In Cowen House opens, a new residence exclusively for Grade 12 students, named after long-time director and board chair Jonathan Cowen and his family. In 2022, construction begins on a new junior girls residence and a wellness centre. The residence is named Wolfe House in honour of the outgoing head of school.

2020
Stanstead College temporarily suspends on-campus operations in the spring due to the global COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic. The school year closes with online distance learning. The 2020-21 school year opens as scheduled and in person, although with a number of international students beginning their studies online. Masking and other pandemic restrictions (as well as many illnesses on campus) continue through much of the 2021-22 school year.

2022
Joanne Carruthers is named incoming head of school, the first woman to hold the position in the school's 150-year history. The student population stands at a record high with 268 students.

OPENING WEEK

2022-2023

The school opened the new year with 268 students, including 197 boarders and 71 day students. Of those, 148 are Canadian, with 23 from the USA, 29 from Mexico, 42 from Asian countries and 25 from other countries. There were 141 boys enrolled this year versus 127 girls.

New students arrived on September 7 and participated in orientation games and activities led by our prefects and teachers. Returning students arrived on September 8, with classes beginning on Friday. The weekend included All-Campus athletics. Saturday night featured Glow, with glow-in-the-dark games and dancing. Sunday saw all students and teachers head to Orford for a day at Park Ranch.

Futur site de la résidence pour filles junior et du centre de mieux-être.
Ouverture prévue en septembre 2023.
Stanstead

Construction began in the fall on a new junior girls residence and wellness centre. The cost of the project is estimated at $7.5 million. A ground-breaking ceremony took place at the site of the new construction on Saturday, September 24, with Stanstead College board chair Jonathan Cowen on hand along with Head of School Michael Wolfe, Associate Head of School Joanne Carruthers and Property Committee chair Martin Béasse.

The new junior girls residence will have 26 beds for boarders and spaces for 12 day students as well as three apartments for house directors. The new wellness centre will include living areas for two nurses and their families and a third area for an on-call nurse. It will also include beds for 10 students as well as a concussion assessment room.

In January, it was announced that the new junior girls residence (above right) would be named Wolfe House in honour of the outgoing head of school

More maples were planted along the walkway behind Colby.

In other campus developments, the College opened its new maintenance shed located in the old Stanstead College Arena on Riverside Street, directly below the main campus. The building houses school equipment, vans and buses as well as the offices for maintenance, transportation and security. The heavily renovated building has stood empty since the opening of the Pat Burns Arena in 2011.

Booo... the Flu!

In addition to the occasional COVID case, influenza A swept through the campus in late October and was declared an epidemic by Quebec Public Health. This resulted in the shut-down of certain events, including the much-anticipated Halloween Dance. Mask mandates were once more revived and classes moved back to an in-person/online hybrid.

In the space of about a week, 156 students – over half the school community – came down with the flu. Several teachers and staff went down with sickness as well. Luckily, the timing of the November break allowed students to recover from home, and the return to class saw a return to health.

Survivor(s)

The fall edition of Survivor came down to a final three: Ben Leclerc, Jerome Sayeur and Ms. Robitaille.

BLACK SWEATER 1

The Black Sweater is given in recognition of exceptional performance across academics and athletics and is presented to a student-athlete who has earned a Major S award and whose term average is at least 80%. The recipient is chosen by the Program Directors, with consideration given to the candidates' course level, academic course load and other school commitments.

With a Major S in soccer and an average of over 89% in a challenging program including two AP classes and three advanced courses in Physics, Chemistry and Math, the recipient of the Black Sweater for Term 1 was Madeline Lippmann.

In addition, the top academic averages in each grade for Term 1 were: Grade 7 – Clara Buck-Thompson; Grade 8 – Sarah Leasure; Grade 9 – Laurie Aubin; Grade 10 – Luke DeLaBruere; Grade 11 – Summer Wong; Grade 12 – Oscar Rosen.

Roughly 250 alumni, former faculty and past/current parents came to campus May 13 for Homecoming and to celebrate the school's 150th anniversary. The day consisted of rugby, great food, and a special unveiling of Mitchell Kotansky's bronze sculpture, "Beginnings." Later in the evening, the 150th Gala Celebration took place at the Chateau Champlain in Montreal with 240 in attendance. A special 150th mural was also prepared by the Grade 12 AP Art class.

SENIOR GIRLS - WHITE

Front: Daphney Dozois, Sara Paquette, Gloria Riddell, Camryn Moore, Madeline Lippmann, Krystine Breton, Siena Webster, Charlotte Dubé, Valentine Savoie
Back: Mr. E. Van Dyke (coach), Valentina Chapoy Olavarrieta (manager), Lana Peasley, Vivianne Suverza de Diego, Mariana Coronel Cardena, Charlotte Hughes, Ana Luisa Nieto Jimenez, Avah St-Pierre, Bernadette von Campenhausen, Sofia Martinez Ajzenman, Jimena Sanchez Jimenez, Ms. L. Kirby (coach)

What a season! How did we pack so much success and joy and so many indelible memories into only 7 weeks?! Hmm, let's take a look...

The Stats: 9 wins 2 losses 1 tie, 25 goals for vs 9 against, 7 shutouts

The Accomplishments: Silver medals at our SIT and, unforgettably, the ETIAC regular season banner

The Major Sweater Winners: Camryn Moore (cannot be beaten 1 v 1), Maddie Lippmann (best goalie in the league), Bernie von Campenhausen (ETIAC top scorer)

The Memories: hosting our SIT, Charlotte Dubé and her backflips, Avah St-Pierre and her kinda-British accent, the unlikely 2-1 win vs SC Red early in the season, Charlotte Hughes and her 5-minute handstands, the SAK line (Sara Paquette, Avah, Krystine Breton), the birthday video you all presented to me in the Sports Store, Viviane Suverza and her ever-disappearing key card, our team bowling outing (and me losing to Sara by 4 measly pins – donuts for everybody!), and last but certainly not least, the unbelievable 2-0 ETIAC banner-clinching victory over Galt at Bishop's University

The Moment: The celebration and endless photo shoot after beating Galt for the banner, under the Friday Nite Lights on a perfect starry night, right there on the logo at the centre of the field, claiming Coulter Field as "Our House!" with the loudest, most joyful team cheer I've heard in years. The endless hugs and smiles, the unbridled joy and pride, arm in arm together – one of the best moments of my coaching career.

I repeat: What a season!

So, how DID we pack so much into only 7 weeks?! To be honest, I don't really know. It took a special group of young women to make this season so extraordinary. Maybe I don't need to question it. Maybe I just need to look back on it and be thankful that it happened. And I am thankful. For how hard you all tried, for your trust in the system, for your perseverance, and for the enthusiasm you brought to the field every day. In sports, it doesn't always work out that positivity and work ethic get rewarded with epic wins and fairytale moments. But then again, sometimes it does . Congratulations to all on a fantastic season!

After our team won the championship playoff game against Galt, I was asked to write a couple of lines for an Instagram post. I wrote:

"Despite injury, despite sickness, despite missing six players from our lineup, this team dug deep (along with help from our last-minute call-ups from the junior team) and managed a hard-fought win against a great opponent. We could not have asked for a better display of what it means to be a Spartan – teamwork, effort, and perseverance." The girls on this team displayed these traits throughout the season. Looking back, I think we only played one or two games with our full roster. We had concussions, injuries, and sickness that left us playing nearly all of our games with only one sub, or no subs, or even less.

One day that stands out in particular was our second-last regular season game at Galt. We started with 11 players. After a variety of injuries, we were down to 8 – that included the goalie. When I mentioned to some players how I might just call the game because I didn't want anyone else getting hurt, they immediately replied, "No, we can do it coach!" That was the spirit of this team – never giving up, always willing to dig deep, show teamwork, effort and perseverance. That's when the Galt coach came over to me and said he wanted to finish the rest of the game the way it should be played, with fairness. His team then removed players from the field so that we would be on equal terms. Our team dug deep yet again and tied the game with only a few minutes remaining, and we somehow left Galt that day with a tie. A great show of sportsmanship by Galt, and a great show of determination by our girls yet again.

Despite injuries that haunted us throughout the season, we ended up being incredibly successful. We won 6, lost 1 (to Stanstead white in a great game) and tied 2. We had 33 goals for and 10 against. A great record that the whole team should be proud of.

There are lots of memories – whether it's Rosalie's looping goals, Penelope's aggressive saves, Pamela struggling to keep playing through pain, Coach Cloutier at practice, Val leading the cheer, Fatima arriving just on time, Isabelle playing anywhere I ask her to, Nya standing on the ball, Emilie scoring four in a game, Charlotte's non-stop sprinting, Julie's hats, Laurie's booming kicks, Alex being a wall at defence, or Annabelle doing 49 keep-ups, I hope you remember it all and talk about it for years to come – I know I will!

SOCCER SENIOR BOYS

Front: Jan Haars, Trofim Godochkin, Mr. A. Simard (coach), Justin Bouchard, Mr. G. Chandler (coach), Chaz Grenier, Dr. J. Standage (coach), William Towner, Bruce Campbell Gutierrez

Following tryouts in early September, five Grade 12s, nine Grade 11s and two Grade 10s would make up a light but fiercely determined senior boys' soccer roster. Led from opening day by team captains Justin Bouchard and Chaz Grenier, the Spartans would be characterized as a hard-working group with good skills who kept solid ball possession but had difficulty finding the back of their opponents' goal. The inability to capitalize on well-created scoring opportunities would become the undoing of this team, especially in the last league game of the season, a narrow 2-1 defeat away to Massey-Vanier that meant losing the ETIAC league banner.

Overall, the Spartans played eight league games, three of their own Invitational Tournament matches and one playoff semi-final game. We compiled an even 4-4-4 record, scoring 19 goals and allowing 22 goals in the process. In ETIAC, the Spartans finished in third place with three wins, one loss and four draws and lost in the playoff semi-final match 1-0 to Galt. The 1st Annual Stanstead College Invitational Tournament, held in mid-October, provided excellent competition in the form of two powerhouse Montreal teams, Lower Canada College and Loyola, as well as ETIAC neighbour Alexander Galt. Losses against LCC and Loyola were excellent learning lessons for the Spartans, and a win against Galt set the squad up nicely for the late season charge to the playoffs. Stanstead finished the season by playing seven games in a nine-day stretch! Despite their determination, perseverance, and positivity, unfortunately there wasn't anything left in the energy tank come playoff time.

Congratulations go to senior "S" winner Mauricio "Swiss Army Knife" Lopez, Major "S" winner Chaz Grenier, Most Sportsmanlike Player winner Justin Bouchard, and to Iain Olsen, Major "S" winner & the Bobby Moore Trophy for being the Most Valuable Player. I would like to thank fellow coaches Mr. Andre Simard and Dr. Jeff Standage for their dedication, commitment, and experience. Their strong sense of humour, quick wit and fun banter with the boys made the fall season a really fun one. Congratulations to our senior players and bring on the 2023 season!

As we entered the season, it quickly became evident that we were talented, possessing skill and ability at almost every position on the field. The only question: Would we be able to come together as a team?

My coaching philosophy has shifted over the years. My number-one goal is for the players to have fun. If we don't enjoy our time together on the field, what's the point? We finished the season with a record of 6 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie. This placed us in second position in the league and pitted us against the third-place finishers from Alexander Galt. We were the better team, and although this does not always equal winning, on this day it did to the tune of a 4-1 victory and a spot in the league finals against the purple squad from down the street. Long story short, though we battled, we came up a touch short in the end and had to settle for a second-place finish in both the regular season and the playoffs.

I feel I have to mention that things might have been a bit different had we been able to field our full squad. Sadly, our bout of influenza forced four starters to miss the final. Bad news, we really missed these young men on this day. Good news, we were blessed enough to have a few bantam players join our team for the finals and they acquitted themselves nicely; the future looks good.

To sum up, this was a wonderful season with a wonderful group of young men. In the end, we did come together as a team and I think we did have fun. I know I certainly did. Thank you, gentlemen.

The junior girls soccer team had a long and challenging season. However, this team was successful in other ways: the girls always showed character, integrity, heart and determination. This team never quit trying -- all -- season -- long. Coach Guerrera and I are proud of the entire team because the players developed friendships, learned responsibility, developed healthy habits, learned resilience, and most of all, learned the benefits of teamwork and helping friends reach a common goal. It was a pleasure working with this group of girls and we hope to see everyone back in the fall of 2023 so that we can continue to improve! You are all true Spartans, and you represented your school with pride.

Back: Ms. K. Borsoi (coach), Mike Sun, Jacob Beasse, Noah Roy, Charles Faucher, Josuke Masuda, Patricio Garza Sanchez

The Bantam level is always exciting because you never know what you're going to get. I had two returning players, Noah Grenier and Josuke Masuda and 11 new players, all who are in their first year at Stanstead. Most of these boys had never even met one another, yet they became such a close-knit group -- who absolutely drove me insane.

But that's the beauty of it. Despite whatever was going on, they were able to come together and enjoy their time on the field. Our last game of the regular season was a prime explain of this. We could have lost that game by two goals and still won first place in the regular season. But most of the boys didn't even realize we were first in the standings. After 70 minutes of play, where the boys fought hard, the game ended in a 2-2 tie, and I was excited to tell to them they had finished first in the league. Yet, all they wanted to know was when were we going to McDonald's and how far was McDonald's and if they ate their ice cream super-fast before they got on the bus would they still be allowed to get one.

Although we didn't have a storybook ending with a trophy in our hands, you all should be proud of your hard work throughout the season. Your sportsmanship exceeded my expectations. You made friends with every opponent, you made playing soccer fun. Other coaches and players even went as far as to tell me you boys were all around great kids. You made memories, danced on the bus, scored some goals, made some big saves, and most importantly enjoyed some burgers with your new friends. Friends that I hope you keep for all your time at Stanstead and years after.

With approximately 40 players joining the badminton team in the fall of 2022 - and with only six courts available - scheduling and managing court time was a bit like working with a giant sliding puzzle. We had to move the pieces around frequently to make sure that we maintained flexibility and that no one got stuck. Thanks to the excellent cooperation and teamwork of our players, we were able to make sure that both our competitive team of players and our recreational group all received a good amount of court time. The action was always fast and furious with the doubles teams in constant motion. Veteran badminton stalwarts like Braden Chastanet, Ren Nakamura, Ryan Yung and Roger Marcoux ensured that the level of play within the competitive cohort remained at a high level, while newcomers such as Julia Lee, Alice Machida emerged as future stars of the program. Congratulations to all participants on a wonderful term of badminton.

When talking cross-country, everyone thinks "individual sport." This is the beauty of cross-country, it's both individual and team. Each individual works to get the best possible result for the team. For each level (separated by age and gender), the top seven runners gain points for the team. The higher you place, the more points for the team. The team with the most points after the four races in the season wins the banner. We won't credit just one person for this championship win, we will say it was a team effort: It could have been Liam's four first-place finishes, Flo's personal best second place, Axelle's hard-working attitude and scoring points, Kate's willingness to never give up, Melissa's even-keeled performances, Charles's ability to bounce back after injury, Jack's ability to work despite sore knees, Justin's three top three finishes, Jacob's four first-place finishes, Reagan's drive for first place, Mia's work ethic and always smiling disposition, Halle's determination to get that gold medal, Hayley's never-quit attitude and always being first to practice, Keita's strive to get better, Asher's three top-three finishes and the ability to find a bathroom in a hurry, Shun's ability to always eat Doritos during last period giving him cramps during practice but still putting in the work, Zack's natural ability, Max's strive to improve, Jerome's leadership or Cole's comic relief. Definitely, a team sport. Whatever the clinching factor was, they did it, together, as a team!

The varsity girls hockey team had another great year. With a record of 41-9-2, the girls finished the year as MyHockey's 3rd-ranked team in Canada. The Varsity Spartans won the NAHA Labor Day Classic and JWHL regular season banner. For the first time in program history, the Varsity Spartans made it to the gold medal game at the prestigious Kitchener Two Nations Tournament, losing 3-1 to Burlington, the 2nd-ranked team in Canada. By losing to Shattuck-St. Mary's in the semi-final of the Washington Challenge Cup, the girls accomplished another first for the program by earning its way to the championship side of this prestigious tournament. In Washington, with just 12 players, the girls went 4-0 in round-robin play, knocking off the 2nd-ranked USA U19 Philadelphia Flyers.

Alexia Aubin and Arianne Leblanc earned the opportunity to represent Team Canada U18. In fact, Stanstead College has developed and advanced 10 players to Team Canada U18 World Championships over the last 5 years (Alexie Guay, Anfred Naud x 2, Marianne Picard, Laurence Frenette, Dom Cormier, Karel Préfontaine, Alexia Aubin x 2, Arianne Leblanc).

Other Spartans too, enjoyed tremendous individual success as Jamie Arsenault (NB), Béatrice Perron-Roy (Quebec) and Maxim Tremblay (Quebec) joined their Team Canada teammates by representing their province at the Canada Games in Prince Edward Island this year.

On the international scene, Lydia Walsh (Great Britain) and Emma Kreisz (Hungary) represented their countries at the 5 Nations Cup in Europe. Emma finished the year on a high note playing for Hungary and joining former teammate Svenja Voigt (Germany) at the Women's World Championships for Hungary in Brampton.

Coming out of the Covid era, long-time teammates Élodie Roy (Brown University), Karel Préfontaine (Cornell), Béatrice Perron-Roy (Cornell), Emma Kreisz (Minnesota), Alice Sauriol (St. Cloud State) and Arianne Leblanc (Clarkson) join Celine Mayer (Williams College), Olivia Knuff (Windsor University) and Maria Hatzidakis (Air Force Academy) as one of the most successful graduating classes in varsity girls history.

Despite not accomplishing our goal of winning the JWHL Championship, it was an amazing year for the varsity girls!

When we finished our season in Lake Placid, I didn't want to force a big hockey message to our group. I wanted a boarding school message and a key message about remembering that the time you have spent is a privilege and life experience that no one will take away from you. As important, I hope your friendships as a group and the stories you spent in many hours on the road will always bring smiles to your faces when you meet up in the future. The thrills of wins and the stings of losses will fade, but don't ever forget your teammates and your friends you met along the way. It makes me happy that so many people at the school were able to see us play at our CPSHA weekend at the Pat Burns Arena. The atmosphere at the rink and our play on the ice meshed, and for five straight games, I thought we played our best hockey of the year. No question we wanted different results, but as a coach who spends the hours leading up to most every game just hoping that you play at your potential and at your best, I was really happy with what the weekend brought. We played skilled hockey, we played structured hockey, and most importantly we played team hockey. Despite not winning in the end, we did manage to get to our destination of playing for a championship, and this is still an accomplishment. Because at times during our season, as we tried to get from Point A to Point B, our GPS did a lot of recalculating. We were never lost but we were not always on the right path we should have been on at that point in the season. One of my proudest moments as a coach this year is that I felt at a key time, unlike our fathers driving us to the rink and getting lost, we were not afraid to ask for directions, and we were not afraid to be vulnerable to try and get back on track. I feel like in the end, when we let ourselves be the most vulnerable, it's also where we were the most successful. We may not have had a storybook ending to the season, but we had moments of team success, individual success, struggles, tears and many more emotions. We rode the bus a lot, we played 55 games, spent many nights away and did it as a loving if at times dysfunctional family. It is all these moments that you will remember, learn from and together stick together because of. Often times, you and the people around you define your life through hockey, but I want you to remember the lessons you learned in hockey will help you become the person you want to be. Don't define yourself through a game, but instead let the game help define the person you want to become. We battled this year, we won more than we lost, but we also grew as people. My advice, same as it was all year: show up on time; be ready to work; bring a positive attitude; and just have fun.

One thing that coaches try to teach athletes is that, though there may be ebbs and floes in life, there are no ebbs and floes in focus, discipline and work ethic. Those are solid daily. Too often, we say, "Oh, we lost," or "I'm not playing well right now because I'm having a bad day." Well, you just wasted a day.

There are certain things that should never ebb and floe. You should never have ebb and floe. You are here, you're focused, you're disciplined, you're working hard. All of that is consistent. In life, there is an ebb and a floe to results and production. That is natural. But production does not guarantee result. It guarantees growth. If you think just because you prepared for something you are entitled to a result, you're going to be disappointed. Studying for a test doesn't entitle you to an A. Preparing for a game doesn't entitle you to a win. If that's the case and both teams prepare, then both teams should win. So, consistency and preparation never entitle you to a result. And that's a really important life concept to understand.

Secondly, I want to talk about commitment to each other. How do we do that? In order to commit to each other, you have to spend time with one another. It's really hard to commit to someone if you don't know them. The more you get to know someone, the more you want to commit to them.

But why do you commit to each other?

The journey we go on is challenging. One of the biggest misconceptions about great teams is that it's a "family" or "culture" that never has any problems. But there is no absence of conflict in a successful team. There is an absence of lingering conflict. We had some conflict this year. I'm sure you were mad at me as your coach at times and I was probably made at you. And I know there were times you were mad at each other. But the teams that have success don't allow the pettiness to linger. You may have an argument with a teammate, but when we get out there, we're together because we are committed one another. You commit to one another so that when there is a conflict you're able to move past it.

Lastly, I want to talk about three words that were used throughout the season: Pride. Heart. Passion. These words are reminders to have pride in everything you do, to always lead with your heart, and to constantly follow your passion.

The overall season was a success for us. Everyone bought into his role to help the team. The players played through a lot of adversity at many different times. We suffered many injuries, we missed many players because of sickness, but every time the guys stepped on the ice, they gave their 100%, even at 6:00 am. I pushed them hard at times -- many mountain tests, many laps around the rink, hard workouts, hard practices -- but in the end, they realized that their limit was further than they taught. That gave them a better chance to achieve their goals. We like to say it's the real Spartan way! Here are some highlights of the season: we finished 1st place in our division; we won the Northwood School Tournament in Lake placid, beating South Kent in the final; we had 4 players in the top 15 best players of the league.

I would like to thank every single player on the team for their effort and commitment all year long; I had a lot fun coaching you guys! I would also like to thank three coaches who helped me a lot when Guy was not able to be here with us: Coach Thompson, Coach Wilson and Coach Rioux.

As a team, it took us a while to find our stride. Our team ranged in ability from players with aspirations to play at a high level to players who were new to the game or had little experience and were just there to have fun. Add in a few player injuries and our season got off to a frustrating start, and it didn't get better from there. January was not a good month for us. Still the players worked hard and slowly but surely we started to improve. It's not easy to be a losing team within a winning program, but the boys stayed the course and by the end of the season we finally began to see some results. We played the last quarter of the season to a .500 record and even managed to eliminate a talented Triolet team from the playoffs in our final game of the season. They could be a frustrating team at times when they couldn't get out of their way, but I wouldn't trade them for anybody. I'll remember three young men following in love with hockey for the first time. I'll remember players overcoming personal hardships to come back on the ice and rediscover hockey as a game that's supposed to be fun. I'll remember the end of our season when we finally started playing at full strength and newfound intensity. I'll remember that Triolet 1 still owes us a game and we are ready. And finally, I'll remember that even though it was a long season, I wasn't ready for it to end, and I think most of the team felt the same. I had a blast, and I hope you did too.

The 2022-2023 U15 Thirds hockey team was comprised of 13 players from Grades 7 to 9. Four Grade 9s, six Grade 8s and three Grade 7 players suited up and competed hard over a five-month winter sports season.

Our young Spartans played 19 games in the RSEQ league. We compiled five wins, nine losses and five ties, scoring 45 goals and allowing 62 in the process. This record placed us fifth out of nine teams. Despite a couple of extremely exciting and low-scoring games, the Spartans lost in the first round of the playoffs to a highly skilled, experienced and eventual champions, College La Samare.

The Spartans were a fun group of kids to coach. They were positive and funny both on and off the ice, and they were hard working and courageous. Most of our games were played against teams with more experience and skill than we possessed, but our heart and determination were second to no one. Most importantly, our players were humble in victory and gracious in defeat. We grew into a cohesive team that peaked at the end of the season and we made a strong showing in our only playoff round. This group of players will be fun to watch as they grow through the Spartans hockey program.

Congratulations to our Most Sportsmanlike player Noah Grenier and to our Junior "S" winners, smooth skating defencemen Chaz Faucher and Saif Pardhan as well as standout goalie Gabriel Poitras. A big shoutout to Mr. Rioux for organizing our season and to fellow coaches, Mr. Patrick Ruwe, Mr. Connor Wilson and Mr. Olivier Magnan for their time, effort and dedication to practices, games, and the players' overall development. We can hardly wait for next year!

At the beginning of the year, I was confident about having a great season because I had some returning players and I saw some good prospects during the beach volleyball season. The tryouts started with 30 or so girls, and I was still confident I would be able to pick only 10 girls. So there you go, starting our first tournament of the year in November with my 16 girls sitting on the bench. What was I thinking? But I could not be more proud of the attitude that my girls showed during the year. They trusted us throughout the season and were always willing to try different things to improve our team.

Unlike many teams here, our team didn't have the chance to get a lot of overnight trips to spend time together outside of the school. But some weird things still happened to us. In our first tournament, for example, we lost our first game by forfeit because we were 2 hours late. On our second one, we lost our balls in a public school on the south shore of Montreal and we came back 4 hours later than expected because we didn't follow the right person, but at least we had Krispy Kreme donuts. On our third tournament, we had to sneak onto a residential street with a couch bus. Finally, on our last one, we had to stop traffic on a dead-end boulevard to allow our bus to get out of a one-way street. So while we cannot say that our performances on the court were exceptional, we still managed to create a synergy within our team that allowed us to have a lot of fun. What I am most proud of is knowing that many of you were able to discover a new sport and had the chance to experience the joys of being part of a team.

It is also with great sadness that I must say goodbye to exceptional women who have allowed me to grow as a human being through our many discussions about life. When people say that the young generation is not interested in anything, it is clear that they have not had the chance to share moments with a team like mine, because I can tell you that these students have ideas and know where they are going in life.

Thanks to my assistant coach Ms. Allie, whom I could count on when I needed someone to take over and who brought expertise to my coaching. I would also like to thank Mr. Spirk for the many calls and emails sent that allowed us to be part of a league so that we could play games. Finally, I would like to thank my players for their passion for the sport and for their positive attitude throughout the season even though it was sometimes difficult to juggle with two completely different age groups. Whether they were there to make girls laugh, encourage them, advise them or help them become better at volleyball, they have all shown that with teamwork, something surprising can be achieved.

The 2022-23 version of senior girls basketball was exceptional, for several reasons. First of all, it was the longest basketball season I've ever been a part of. From tryouts on October 31 to the March 25 RSEQ Finals that took place one day after our March break had started, it was a looonng winter.

It was also the most injury-plagued season of my 30-year career, with a list of injuries that sounds like "The 12 Days of Christmas," i.e. 6(!) concussions, 3 sprained ankles, two black eyes, one separated shoulder, one low blood pressure condition, and one avulsion fracture.

The exceptionally good news is, several tournaments were revived post-COVID, i.e. our own SIT, the national CAIS tourney, the MIS, the Anderson-Bailly, and the Visser-MacLeod. For the first time in years, basketball season was normal.

And for the first time ever, we were invited to The Top Of The Hill Tournament in Rothesay, New Brunswick, hosted by RNS. Travelling with our senior boys team, Coach Carter and cards on the bus, RNS's huge crowd at their senior night ceremony, the hotel pool and hot tub, the escape room, Lam Wang's dad – these are just some of the indelible memories from that journey.

In terms of basketball, we played man defense, which is exceptionally rare for one of my Stanstead teams. Not zone. Not a combination man/zone. Straight-up man. That's how uncommonly athletic and tough we were.

We pulled off the Bailly/MacLeod double for only the 4th time in the history of Stanstead College. While we were never really challenged at the Bailly, we had to play great at the MacLeod to take home the coveted championship trophy. And, finally and most exceptionally, we won the RSEQ regular season banner for the first time ever (11-1 record), and then followed that up with SC's first-ever RSEQ playoff championship, defeating Triolet in the final. Oh, and we were also awarded the ethics/sportsmanship banner, voted upon by the other teams in the league. Not bad for only our 7th year in the RSEQ!

Ultimately, all of these rare accomplishments and outright firsts are a testament to the tenacity of this team. When they were shorthanded due to injury (which was often), these girls persevered. When they faced hostile senior night crowds, they overcame. When they had off-court issues, they put them aside for the good of the team.

Nothing worthwhile ever comes easy. And adversity makes success all the sweeter. Congratulations to 22-23 Senior Girls Basketball Spartans for a truly memorable season. Keep singing karaoke on bus rides, keep paddling that "rowboat", and never stop witerally gwiddying.

After coaching against Stanstead College for many years over the past two decades, it was an honour and a privilege to become a Spartan this year. Here are a few highlights of the season:

Our trip to RNS with the girls team was a ton of fun. On the way there we watched a few sports movies including the best sports movie ever: "Hoosiers" Thanks, Cam!

Another highlight: We were playing in a very tough - and close - game. And even though Justin was putting up good shots, they just wouldn't go in. Finally - finally - one of them did and my hands automatically just went up like this. Justin looked over and did the same thing to me. And a tradition was started. Every time he scored for the rest of the year, we did this together. And I loved it!

Our home - overtime - victory over Salesien was certainly a highlight. The boys did so well. The crowd went nuts and it was absolutely electric!

My last highlight is just two words. Two incredibly important words: "Yes, coach!" Chaz started a "Yes, coach" culture on our team this year. I heard "Yes, coach" from my players more this year than in all of my other coaching years combined.

It's not easy to play for a new coach. It's not easy to learn a new system. It's not easy to play basketball. My boys did all of that - and more - this season. They worked hard. They learned a lot. And they said "Yes, coach!" every time I asked them to do something or I wanted change or I wanted something improved. They didn't fight me. They just said, "Yes, coach" and they went out and did it. And you know what happened? We improved. We got better as a team. And we got better fast. We finished the season in 2nd place - out of 17 teams - with a 10-2 record. Absolutely incredible. And I couldn't be more proud of my boys.

To my awesome assistant coach Joe Wong: You didn't have to coach a winter sport this year, but you did. You didn't have to bring me a Monster energy drink every road trip, but you did. You didn't have to yell "Go BCS!" during one of our games, but you did. Joe Wong, you are an excellent teammate. Thank you for everything.

Finally, I'd like to thank my players. You pushed yourselves, tried your best, played as a team, and had lots of fun. What more can I ask? I thank you all so much. I loved being your coach this year.

Our season consisted of a good number of practices but not too many games, and as we all know, games are usually much more enjoyable, for they represent the reward for the effort and perspiration put forth during practice times. Games are an opportunity to challenge oneself and see how you match up against your opponent. That said, this team did what was asked of them, when it was asked of them and without one complaint. A true team in all senses of the word, this group of young men came together and bonded early, then worked diligently throughout the course of the season to improve in all facets of the game.

Athletically, this is a talented group of young men, but more importantly, they are a talented group of young people and I know I am better for having crossed their paths. I am extremely appreciative of the opportunity I was afforded to coach and learn from Speedy G, Echeverr-Gone, Jamal Ball, Mau Hoop-ez, Lukie Pookie, Accurauggie, Jo-Swish, Chavalo Del Ocho, Quickeita, and J-Crossover. Thank you gentlemen for a season I will never forget!

Another curling season has swept its way to a close and what a year this has been! Such an amazing team and a fun winter. A record nineteen students were on the team! So many students that we had first dibs on the 21-passenger bus. (Apologies to the swimmers and basketball team.)

Each one came to the ice this season with a fresh outlook and ready to try something new! The group immediately became a "team" that listened to each other, strategized, developed skills, celebrated our wins and did not let losses get us down.

It is important to remember that we all learned some valuable lessons this year. One of the greatest aspects about this sport is that there is always room for improvement. We can all work on doing something just a little better. And I saw that in each and every team member, and when we continue to do that, that is when the results can be amazing.

So don't give up, keep watching curling, keep learning the game, keep talking about it and keep sharing with your friends. Because curling is not just a sport, it can be a gift!

Curling can go with you far past your years at Stanstead, just like the memories of this season will go with me. Thank you all so much for your efforts this winter!

This year's swim team was small, but mighty. Competing in the ETIAC and RSEQ leagues, every swimmer earned points for the team this season. Of particular note is how well the senior girls did in the final weekend when they earned silver in the freestyle relay and placed third overall against 12 other schools.

The youngest member of the team, and in fact in the RSEQ league, Juliette began her year unable to swim one length of the pool without having to stop to catch her breath. However, within only a few weeks she was competing with the senior girls during their relay races. For the final event of the year, she challenged herself to race the 100m individual medley.

Zoe, the second rookie on the team, started her season with a lot of room for improvement. Luckily, she is one of the most coachable athletes I have ever worked with. Her times and distances improved every week, and her enthusiasm never waivered. During the finals, she pushed through an injury to complete her races, and was part of the senior relay that took the silver medal.

Ren was the only junior swimmer on the team. He was, hands down, the most focused of the bunch. During training, he simply got to work. His efforts throughout the season finally paid off in the regional championships when he earned a silver medal for the 50m backstroke. Ryan, always cheerful and ready to put in some hard work. If ever the school wants to change the shade of red it uses for its logo, Ryan's belly after a few dives may just be the best the shade of choice. He had his best race of the year during the finals, achieving his goal of a personal best.

Claudie was our long-distance swimmer. She took on the huge challenge of racing in the 200m IM, hands down the most difficult event. That is 8 full lengths of the pool, doing all four strokes in turn. She was a great help by aiding with Juliette's training. A certified lifeguard, she was a much-appreciated part of the team.

Charlotte, our second lifeguard, went undefeated in the 50m butterfly this year and brought home the gold medal this past weekend. Despite my concerns that her shoulder would pop out of joint at any instant, it was great watching her compete.

Jerome was the most enthusiastic swimmer on the team. His positive attitude during practice but even more particularly during races made it fun for everyone. Jerome's performance this year was excellent. He earned points during every event, improved consistently throughout the season and got a personal best during the finals.

Rachel was our team captain. She had a major role in the success of this year's team. She worked with her teammates and always offered good ideas to her coaches. At competition, she had few rivals. She earned more first-place finishes this year than I care to count. With the help of Miss Weir, an enthusiastic co-coach, with the support Mr. Spirk and Mrs. Wolfe and of course with the hard work done by each and every member of the team, thank you all for making this the best season I have ever had as a coach.

Is tennis hard? You need a marathon runner's endurance, a sprinter's quickness, a surgeon's concentration and a football player's power. Every shot must be executed with precision, every serve must be powerful. You need to run from corner to corner, non-stop, until you get a 3-second break between points. You have no team to pick up the slack, it is all on you out there. As you run back and forth on the court, you must focus on your next move. This entire time you are hoping you can dig deep, find the inner strength to hit the ball with enough power and place it in just the right spot with just the right amount of spin. This year's team was made up of 18 student-athletes ready to take on that challenge. So if you want to know if tennis is hard, ask them about it.

Ask Jan and Caleb about having to face off with each other over and over again during some of the hottest weather we've seen this year.

Ask Sara, Nathan and Arianne how their goalie reflexes help stop nearly everything from getting by them (even when it should).

Talk to David and Austin about how frustrating it can be to play against Jacky and ask Jacky about how he manages to play so well without seeming to ever move his feet.

If you to know if tennis is hard, talk to these people because they know way more about it than I. What I can tell you about is our season and how well our players did.

Just like for everyone else, it was a short season, a lot of people missed some competitions because of AP exams and things had to be rescheduled because of rain... BUT we did manage to get a few good tournaments in and everyone was given the chance to show their skills.

The most notable of these tournaments was the ETIAC finals at Massier-Vanier. Caleb MacDonald and Jan Haars took gold and silver in the boys-singles. Elodie and David took gold in in mixed doubles and silver went to Nathan and Arianne for the same event. Although the points were very close, at the end of the day the score weas 153 to 156, and we were awarded second place.

All said, it was a great season and I had a lot of fun. Though many of you are leaving us because you are graduating or returning home to Germany or Japan, I hope to see the rest of you back on the courts next year.

This year's group of brave Spartans was young, inexperienced as a whole, but very coachable. The season started early for some as 12 players embarked on a pre-season rugby experience in France and Spain. This helped with the inexperience and really helped the group gel as a team. On the return from Europe, there were 10 more players added to form a solid squad. The team struggled early, playing against strong opponents at Rugbyfest in New Brunswick. The boys came back bruised but ready to learn and get ready for the local season. This team continued to grow as a family and really saved their best play for the last part of the year. They were successful in every 15s game and finished the 7s series as ETIAC league and playoff champions. Winning was a result of hard work and buy-in from everyone. This team loses only a few players so watch out for this group in the 2024 season!

This year's edition of the junior boys rugby team was composed of 3 veteran players out of 20. This is normal for Stanstead College. We are always teaching the game to new players. Out of this group, four boys were in Grade 7, seven boys were in Grade 8 and nine boys were in Grade 9. This is young. I mention this because other teams field some players in Grade 10.

Our strategy this year consisted of teaching the game as quickly as we possibly could to give our players an advantage over other teams in the league. In other words, other teams might be older, stronger and faster, but we would be more knowledgeable and this would be our competitive edge, at least to start the season. It worked. We won our first games easily and this put us in first place in the league. Could we maintain this lead to win the season?

By our second tournament, we won 2 out of 3 games and the one game we lost to Galt in a very tight game which ended in a 15-10 score (or 3 to 2) for Galt, ended up being the game that determined who finished in first place and who finished in second place on the season. The season ended with both teams having a record of 10 wins and 2 losses, so the tie-breaker was that game. We came that close to winning our league!

Seriously, the junior boys rarely have any chance at all of winning anything at our school and the fact that you won 10 and lost 2 is very impressive. That is astonishing when you think about it. A young team who fought hard all season long and had a very real chance of winning the league. That shows resilience and grit, if you remember my coach's speech. That is an important life lesson right there. Those are the qualities that will carry you through life. It's amazing what can be learned from sports. Coaches are very proud of what you accomplished this year.

Congratulations to all of you and thank you to award winners for setting a fine example for others to follow: Pato O, Santi, Josh and team captain Noah G.

The season started off FAST. With over 30 players, some returning and lots of new learners to the sport, our team needed to quickly move and help one another. From the ETIAC league games, our trip to Rugby Fest in New Brunswick, and two amazing trips to Boston, every single player was able to get on the field and feel the unique sense of the rugby community.

The most enjoyable part of this rugby season was taking the time to learn from one another and to create new friendships. Our successful season did not only teach us the importance of teamwork but demonstrated how everyone has a special role on the team, on or off the field. The memories created will be unforgettable, and we enjoyed every moment we got to spend with you!

I played rugby for two years in high school and one year at university, but I really fell in love with the sport years later. I fell in love with "rugby culture," and this is something that I think our team learned a lot about this season.

Rugby culture is making players of all shapes, sizes, ages and abilities feel welcome. This year's junior team had 25 players from grade 7-9, and 22 of these players were completely new to the sport . By the end of the season, you could not tell who had played before as the new players caught on incredibly fast.

Rugby culture also has a lot to do with traditions. From hosting or being hosted by your opponents after a game to being cheered off the field by the senior girls team following an amazing ETIAC championship, the junior girls got to experience many of the traditions that make this sport so special, make you feel included, and make you feel part of the bigger rugby family.

Rugby culture is also all about learning the spirit of the game. I didn't bat an eye when one of our players showed up to the GMAA tournament wearing a pink cowgirl hat, with a portable speaker and microphone in her hand. I just quietly said to myself, "This girl gets it!" I was proud of how it took only about 30 minutes before our players were chatting with girls from other teams at this event and making TikToks together. The spirit of the game has a lot to do with the cheering, the social side, the cooler filled with Freezies, the music, the snacks, the singing, the restaurant stops and successful road trips. We nailed this!

Finally, rugby culture fosters mutual respect. We aren't perfect, but this season our players had positive vibes on the sidelines and throughout every practice and game. Our fans cheered enthusiastically, and we congratulated the opposition and one another on good performances. We twice gave up our own players to opposing teams in order to ensure a match could be played. In Fredericton, a Stanstead player ran onto the pitch with a massage gun to help an opposition player with severe calf cramps. We learned that playing on the same rugby team means you support one another ALWAYS, despite any former feelings. This mutual respect is a beautiful part of rugby culture, and the junior girls, as well as their parents, understand this.

For many of you, rugby culture will be what keeps you coming back for more. Now that you have played for one season, you are part of a new group – one large, international, diverse, accepting, supportive, happy rugby family. I hope all our players will be back to play at either the senior or junior level next year and continue to help build the program and support new players.

There was an exciting vibe about the upcoming season. One that I hadn't quite seen before. Players had their sticks out a little earlier than usual starting in September and even more so when the season was near. We jumped into practice and the guys never stopped improving. I knew it was going to be a fun season but who would we play?

Then we got some big news. The big news was that we were entering a new league called the GMAA. It instantly gave us an objective for the year. Win the league and bring the banner home to a new champion, the Stanstead Spartans!.

We won all our regular season games and our American tune up games, going 11 wins without a loss. Often winning in dominating fashion. In the regular season we scored 85 goals and only conceded 13 all year!

During the season we made tons of memories for a lifetime such as the first career goals of many players, the behind the back passes, the clean sheets, the nicknames the road trips and our McDonalds stop. That shooting practice in the rain (sorry Chris and Jeremy), and most importantly learning the great game of lacrosse and getting better every day. Memories for life!

I want to take the time to salute you guys for treating this sport with respect. You let weaker competition enjoy the game all while having fun yourselves. When the bigger games arrived, you stepped up and showed how dominant you guys are and can be.

It was truly amazing to see it all come together on championship Thursday June 1st! On the road, without a key defender, plus 34 degrees. That game we had an awesome start. We transitioned the ball, got our ground balls , made stops, stayed disciplined and scored timely goals. The game ended with a 12 to 6 win! We did it boys. The championship and the banner! You all had a role in it.

Congrats on accomplishing our goal and winning the championship!! And most of all helping build a lacrosse culture at Stanstead!!

We had almost 40 players divided into two groups. The recreational team played in-house tournaments and featured some very good players. Our competitive team played a demanding schedule of weekly tournaments at Galt High with over 125 players. We won medals in every one of those tournaments including numerous gold medals.

While we do not have an official Most Improved Player award there is no doubt that our most improved player was Shanmei Zhang. She worked extremely hard every day, at the competitive level, to make herself into a better player and she certainly succeeded in doing that.

Congratulations to our Bantam S winners Melanie Li for her athleticism and for her positive and supportive attitude. And Roger Roger Marcoux and Stanley Lin who made up a terrific doubles team. They became better and better every week, going from contenders early in the year to gold medallists by the end of the season.

Eric Cui won the Sportsmanship Award for playing hard, fairly and cheerfully every day.

Braden Chastanet was awarded a Senior S for his skillful play and eternal positivity. Braden could have been a top doubles player but he insisted on playing in the toughest division – senior boy's singles – and doggedly persevered to get himself on to the medal podium.

Major S winner Ryan Yung is not only a terrific player and a multiple gold medallist in mixed doubles, he's a great organizer, and someone with an in-depth knowledge of the game that he willingly imparts to other players.

We are fortunate Major S winner Alice Sauriol chose to play badminton for the last few years where she was a multiple gold medallist in singles, doubles and mixed doubles play.

Beatrice Perron-Roy won gold medals in singles, doubles or mixed doubles events this season. Whatever event she entered, she came out on top. And along with Alice and Ryan, she set the tone for the team – excellence, effort and fun. She won a Major S and also a new MVP trophy named for former athletic director Erik Van Dyke who has always supported and promoted badminton here at Stanstead College.

Note from Mr. Wolfe: It was a great pleasure to work with Coach Weir this season and I hope that she will continue to bring her strong organizational skills and good spirits to the program in the years ahead. I've coached every year here for the past 20 years and with a number of different sports teams, and they have all been truly wonderful experiences. However, the last few years coaching Good-minton have been the most enjoyable for me. My fondest moments were coming to practice and seeing everyone having fun on the court. That was especially so with this year's team, which represented everything good about high school athletics – teamwork, improvement and helping each other to reach their potential. Thank you for making my final coaching year so memorable. I will miss all of you very much.

This year, 4 boys and 10 girls were involved on our team. Some of them came with a solid athletic background while others were training seriously for the first time in their lives. Overall, we had a fantastic group of people who showed up every day with a great deal of motivation in order to give their best and grow as athletes.

Luna, Kate and Esther, we will remember the smiles on your faces and your laughter while we were stretching in circles.

Maxim, Florence and Alexia, I commend you for your skills and perseverance during the competitions.

Liam and Luke, both returning athletes from last year, and Axelle were our long-distance runners, and they showed impressive results in North Country and during the provincials in Sherbrooke.

Fatima was a pleasure to watch when throwing the javelin, and Sofia progressed tremendously throughout the season. Ellie, Joe and Johnny could show speed on the track, which we, unfortunately, missed during the competitions.

Sincerely, I would very much like to thank and commend you all. We had a great season together. You all seemed to enjoy the time spent together; you were competitive in your own way and respectful with others. It was a sincere pleasure to show up on the track, watch you give your best effort and have fun together.

There are many reasons for join softball. You can get a head start on your summer tan. You definitely run less than you would with rugby, lacrosse or track. You get to try to chirp your friends. And maybe you enjoy the game. Historically, softball has a much larger turnout than we had this year. With a turnout of 25 players, we decided to make teams every day, but that evolved into the vast majority of players staying more or less on the same team every day. We came up with the idea of Team Delorme and Team Kirby going up against each other. I want to thank the players. They should be proud of the effort that for the most part they put in on a daily basis. We enjoyed our time with you guys, and we hope you enjoyed your time out on the field. For the record, Team Kirby finished the season 8-6.

In the words of Bobby Jones, "Golf is the closest game to the game we call life. You get bad breaks from good shots and good breaks from bad shots ...but no matter what, you always have to play the ball as it lies."

Here is our season in a nutshell:

The team was comprised of a mixed bag of characters this year: The youngsters – bantam- and junior-aged golfers Jose, Ben, Tuck-Dog, Will Laplante and Maddie; and the oldsters – Matteo, Felix, Spencer, Tyler, Kyle, Towner, Markus and Liam.

We played in both the RSEQ and the ETIAC leagues, and both saw tournaments cancelled, re-scheduled, moved to different courses... But in the long run, we met with a fair degree of success in each. As a result, we were privileged to play some beautiful courses again this year. At the same time, we were able to share our home course with our competitors, and believe me, they all love to come to Dufferin.

In RSEQ play, we had many good showings by a number of individuals. In the end, three golfers were medalists for the season. As well, in two of our three ETIAC tournaments we were runner-up.

In general, we will call it a learning season, things like learning not to play 3-v-3 basketball the night before a tournament; learning that when the coaches say "dress for the weather, it is cold at Dufferin," we know what we are talking about! But, most importantly, I think each golfer learned something about themselves: tenacity, mental toughness and learning how to deal with a bad shot or a bad round. Each golfer also improved their skills over the course of the season and I applaud your perseverance and desire to always get better.

In the words of Tiger Woods, "No matter how good you get, you can always get better."

Congratulations to all; I hope you have developed a passion for the game that will stay with you for many, many years to come.

BACCALAUREATE

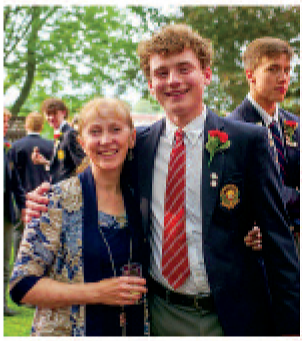
RECEPTION & DINNER

The Class of 2023 included 65 students in Grade 11, the majority of whom will return for Grade 12. The Grade 12 class, meanwhile, was a record 71 students.

Our graduates received offers from many post-secondary institutions, including 28 Canadian, 36 American and 5 international schools across 6 provinces, 17 states and 5 countries.



This year's most popular major was science and engineering, with 38% of the class choosing science, engineering or health. Roughly 30% majored in social sciences and another 30% in business. Other majors included digital arts, motorsports industry, kinesiology, international management, psychology, education and anthropology.

At Friday evening's reception at Gallant House, the last for Mr. Wolfe, board Chair Jonathan Cowen welcomed the new alumni.

Following dinner at LeBaron, Grade 12s and non-returning 11s received their alumni ties and pins.

SERVICE & PRIZE-GIVING

Head of School Michael Wolfe presents the Pitcher Prize to Justin Bouchard

Laurie Aubin receives the Wilder Shield from school trustee François Paradis

Beatrice Perron-Roy accepts the Head of School's Prize

Lysa Kabarigi won the Allan Family Friendship Cup, presented by trustee Jason Rodi.

Director of Athletics Adam Spirk presents the major athletic awards:

Junior male athlete of the year: Joshua Lippmann

Junior female athlete of the year: Rosalie Tremblay

Female student-athlete of the year: Élodie Roy

Male student-athlete of the year: Zachary Soifer

For the first time, the College held its Baccalaureate & Prize-Giving Service in the Pat Burns Arena in order to accommodate our large student body and their families. The space looked and sounded great thanks to professional sound and video production. Unfortunately, a mishap with the compressors resulted in flooding just a day before! A huge thank you to our already very busy maintenance crew for their quick action to ensure that everything was back in order (if a bit damp) by Saturday morning.

In addition to academic and special prizes, the ceremony included presentations by Associate Head of School Joanne Carruthers, Board Chair Jonathan Cowen, Head Prefects Béatrice Perron-Roy and Justin Bouchard and, making his final address to the students and receiving a standing ovation, Head of School Michael Wolfe. Mr. Grenier's Grade 10 Music class and Élodie Roy led the audience in a rendition of The Beatles' "Hey Jude."

SERVICE & PRIZE-GIVING

Maria Teresa Calva-Xolalpa & Thomas LeBlanc shared the Sean Kevin Ingutia Music Award for contribution to music in the school, presented by Erik Van Dyke.

Kate Emms won the Rotary Club Service Award for service above self in the school community, presented by Director of Academics Andrew Blair)

The Gordon Usher-Jones Memorial Prize (to the Grade 12 student who has attended Stanstead College for one year and who has made an exceptional contribution through involvement in all aspects of school life) went to Oscar Rosen, presented by trustee Dugie Ross. Oscar also earned the top average in Grade 12.

William Towner was the recipient of the Faculty-Staff Award, presented by Head of Humanities Matt Thompson.

Sum Long "Summer" Wong earned the top overall average in Grade 11, receiving the Governor General's Medal from trustee Annie St-Georges for his efforts.

The top average in Grade 10 and the Birks Bronze Medal was earned by Luke DeLaBruere, presented by trustee Marisol Xolalpa.

The Paul & Dorothy Duncan Award for the highest overall average in Grade 9 was presented to Laurie Aubin by teacher Andre Simard

Noah Grenier had the highest average in Grade 8, seen here with trustee Bruce Campbell.

Clara Buck-Thompson had the top average in Grade 8, recognized by trustee Louis Rémillard.

Trustee Dugie Ross presents the Everest Award (to a Grade 11 or 12 student who has overcome challenges and shown significant improvement) to Haokong "Buddy" Shen

Mike Huckins presented the Billy Huckins Memorial Prize to Quinn Smitts for dedication, hard work, achievement and, above all, courage.

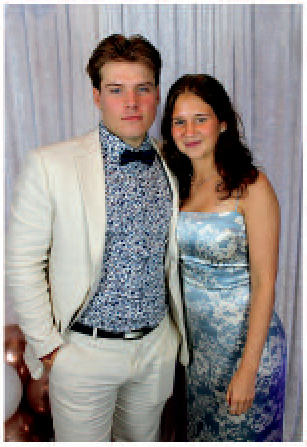
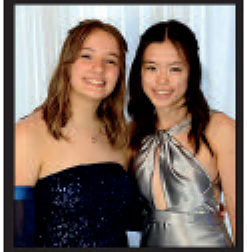
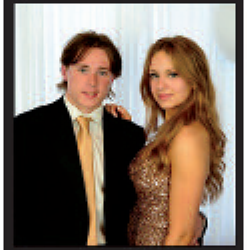
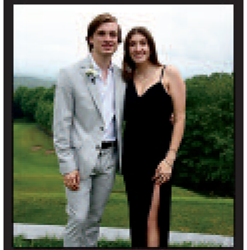
Grad Dinner & Dance: Dufferin Heights

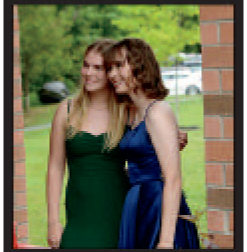
In a pair of first, the Grad Dinner & Dance (AKA Prom) was held at Dufferin Heights Country Club, and it was held the evening following the Baccalaureate Service. It was a rainy day, but the graduates were still able to pose for some photos outside and enjoy the photo booth inside.

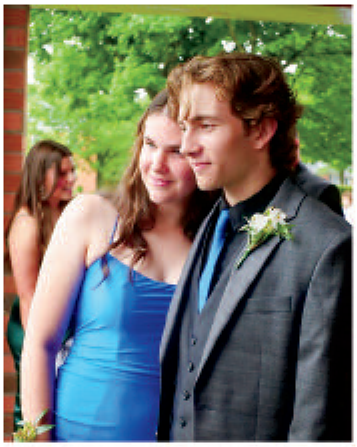


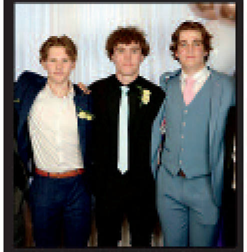


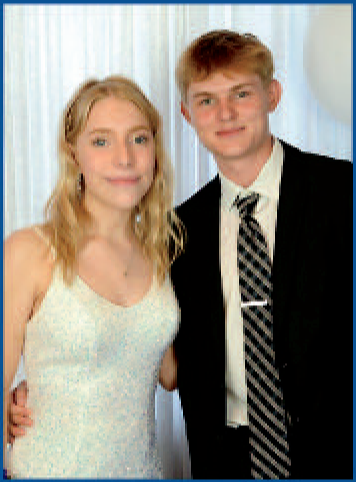












FROM THE HEAD PREFECTS

Presented at the Baccalaureate & Prize-Giving Service, June 17, 2023

I think all graduating students here in this room have longed for the day when we threw our caps in the air and closed the book to this academic chapter because unmistakably, stepping into the real world is exciting. Nonetheless, graduating is bittersweet. Because today means we are leaving our Stanstead days behind.

For some of us, Stanstead has merely been a pit stop before university. For others, Stanstead has watched them grow into independent young adults who will be walking out these doors in just a few moments. Regardless of how long and for what reason, while we were passing, we all took part in creating a life here of our own.

While we were here...

We learned.
Sure enough, we were taught how to write research papers or how to derive a function, but we all know we've been taught so much more, most of which has actually been learned outside the classroom walls. We took after faculty members we admire the most and we've absorbed their wisdom. We made some mistakes and grew wiser from them. We embraced each other's culture and background. We've learned and grown together. And we've learned from each other.

We laughed.
The laughs and moments we shared brought us closer to our friends and turned the simplest moments into lasting memories that will bring us joy every time we look back on our years here.

We cried.
We had to face some of life's challenges whether it was experiencing the COVID academic year, undertaking a challenging subject, having a bad performance in our sport, or experiencing a breakup. These situations forced us to learn to rely on our friends and supporters. We came out stronger, though, and more eager than ever to keep pushing forward.

We've had so many experiences.
We've adventured outside of our comfort zones, whether in sports, academics, arts, or in our social life. We tried new things, discovered some of our passions and interests and found out a little bit more about ourselves.

And ultimately, we lived.
As Helen Keller said: "Life is a succession of lessons which must be lived to be understood." And that is exactly what we've done here. We have lived fully, vibrantly, and unapologetically. Through our lively presence, we have managed to not only learn lifelong lessons but create a life and a community here of our own, and for that, we should all look back at what we are leaving behind today with pride and not with sadness.

So yes, we've managed to squeeze the most out of this place and come out as stronger, wiser, and better people, but that would never have been possible without the help of a few individuals. On that note, I'd like to thank my parents for the eternal support they have given me. Out of all the school textbooks and novels I've read, you guys have taught me by far the most. You are my best life teachers and I thank you for everything. The same thank you goes to all the family and supporters here today who have been with us through thick and thin. Your love and encouragement have been the foundation of our success. Thank you.

Our friendships have also been pillars of our academic years. Shout out to my two best friends, Alice and Karel, for making my time here much sweeter. And to all the supporting friends out here who made all the difference in our experience by providing support, advice, and a sense of belonging, thank you.

Lastly, to the faculty and staff of our school for their dedication and commitment to our education. You have challenged us, inspired us, and helped us grow into the young adults we are today. Thank you.

We have been given a gift that not everyone has - the gift of education. It is one of the greatest gifts we can receive, and all of you here today, in some way or another, have helped us take advantage of that and become the best version of ourselves through it. And for that we sincerely thank you.

Now, as we embark on the next chapter of our lives, we might ask ourselves, what's eating breakfast without Mr. Marino's ABBA playing in the background, what's an Economics class without a Kal Tire anecdote from Mr. Pimm? Finally, what's a life without all of us making it what it is? Well, to that I say, let's strive to carry on what made this place so great to where we are going next and hopefully, we have done a good enough job that those who follow will keep this spirit alive (and I have no doubt about that).

May we venture into the world always carrying that spark of curiosity that ignites the fire of learning. Wherever you are going next, continue to light up the world around you.

So, graduating class of 2023, let's take a bow for what we have accomplished here, let's salute those who have made it possible, and finally let's walk out these doors with heads high and show everyone what true Spartans are made of. Let's change the world. Here's to us.

- Béatrice Perron-Roy

Body CopyIn his twenties, Billy Joel travelled to Vienna to find his father who had left when he was a child. Later, while on a walk with his found father, he saw an old woman sweeping a street. Joel said to his father, "Dad, it's kind of sad that that poor old woman has to do that kind of work," to which his father replied, "No, she has a job, she feels useful, she has a place in our society." In this moment, Joel realized that we don't have to squeeze our entire lives into our 20s and 30s. He realized that there isn't such a rush to get in the rat race, and we have a whole life to live, one that has purpose until its end.

This was his inspiration for the song "Vienna." Besides this song's beautiful and unique sound, it also has excellent lyrics that are worth a careful listen, especially if you missed my incredible performance at Café Capp. The meaning of this song is what I'm here to talk about today and what encapsulates the biggest lesson I've learned during my time at Stanstead.

While writing this speech, I thought of talking about everything I've learned in my six years at Stanstead. Have I gained knowledge and wisdom? Well, I would sure hope so. Besides math and science, I've learned many lessons like "people aren't that scary" or "I should make time for myself." I've also accumulated a few regrets or things I would have done differently, like stressing so much about assignments, waiting so long to participate in Variety Show, or not putting in the effort to actually get a girlfriend.

With everything I've learned, I should be able to give some wise, universal advice. However, I'm not sure I'm in any place to do so. On the contrary, I am convinced that even if I could start over on the first day of Grade 7 with everything I know now, I would still make a similar number of mistakes. I'd have to redo my Stanstead career many, many times to even come close to the perfect Stanstead life of my dreams. Many of you might think I have it all figured out, since I'm head prefect and all that. Well, for anyone under the illusion that I get to the end of every day and think, "Wooptie doo, another perfect day of everything going according to plan," let me tell you, this is not the case. Instead, I often think, "Wow, I should have done so many things differently. I should have been a better leader. I should have been more involved at this event. I should have known better. I should have been better."

However, I've learned that it's okay not to have everything figured out. I know I don't, and I'd be willing to bet that most people don't either. The fun part is life usually has a way of working out in the end. Looking back, it didn't matter if I knew what I was doing when I applied to be a prefect, when I sang "Sweet Caroline" or even in my few attempts at talking to girls. What matters is that I did those things. It is those moments that led to a meaningful experience at Stanstead. Even with the imperfect decisions I've made, my current Stanstead career didn't turn out so bad. We're all trying to find our way, so take it easy. Slow down, enjoy your time, and live in the moment.

Here's what I want you to take away, and the number one lesson I've learned over the past six years: You don't need to have a master plan or have your entire life figured out. You don't even need to have any idea what you're doing. The important part is just to keep doing, whatever that may mean for you. What you remember won't be how you expertly planned out every step to get into Harvard. It'll be when you played Spikeball after school, the time spent practicing music, and of course, the friends you made along the way. Whether it's exploring new ground and meeting new people or developing a passion you already know and love, get off Tik Tok and seize the day. If you do that, you can't go wrong. Everything else will figure itself out.

Before I end, I'd like to thank my parents, friends, teachers, coaches, and everyone else who helped make the past six years special. Anyways, it's been real, see you later Stanstead.
